

Painting

Lisa Line

April 8-11, 2021

COURSE DESCRIPTION

In this class, expect to plan, craft, and complete 1-3 oil paintings in various sizes, depending on your personal working speed. We will be using observation and photography for our starting point, so please bring with you a digital camera of any kind for your personal use.

The role of lighting in our paintings is always mentioned, but in this class we'll really try to go deep on improving our grasp of the path of light, and how it builds the space, and gives us our perception of form. We will be able to do a small amount of study, but save most of our time for actually painting, since most of the learning happens there. Each day will include demonstrations: seeing how someone else does it is sometimes more useful than any amount of words.

A great advantage of our time together will be individual critique, group critique, and self-critique. Each participant can expect to receive individual support as they work on growing as an artist. If you like, bring with you images of your own body of work to share with me or the class. I look forward to working with you.
